Research Interests

Interests: I am interested in the intersection of Human-Computer Interaction and Immersive Visualization, focusing on physically sustainable XR, cognitively powerful XR, and AI-enhanced XR games.

Question: How can we make XR evolve from a short-term experience medium into a usable, sustainable, and cognitively meaningful computing interface for long-term interaction, complex knowledge understanding, and engaging AI-driven game experiences?

Advisor: Mingming Fan.

- Studied how XR interaction techniques affect users' selection behavior, action strategies, and sense of control in spatial target acquisition.
- Designed and evaluated VR selection techniques for challenging interaction scenarios, including occluded-object acquisition for target selection across different input mechanisms.
- Built Unity-based XR prototypes and conducted user studies to measure performance, comfort, intent expression, and sensorimotor behavior in immersive environments.
- Conducting ongoing research on interaction and mapping techniques for mitigating VR sickness and supporting longer, more stable immersive sessions.
- Developed immersive and AI-enhanced interactive systems for learning, accessibility, and human-AI collaboration.
